

Aliexes: The Invasion

On Wednesday, May 6th. 2037, were 8 highschool students who would have a huge turn in their life!

It started like a normal first day of school for: Regina, Mia, Olivia, Sophia, Lucas, Liam, Noah, and Ethan. Mia was very worried as she watched a lot of movies about life in highschool.

They all did their classes for the morning and they all go to their lockers to get their stuff, and while doing so, they can see that Olivia is talking with the most popular girls in their school while the other students are barely interacting with anybody.

It is around 1:00pm, in their high school, the students get an assignment, where they are assigned into a group of 8, and have to solve a problem or mystery off the web, and they also have to present their solution. Regina, Mia, Olivia, Sophia, Lucas, Liam, and Noah were put into a group and Olivia was not going to work with them but the teacher made her.

The rules were that all the groups would have to find a problem off the news and give it to the teacher. Then she would randomly assign one of the problems to them. The group which Regina was in, were assigned to solve the problem of the missing people in the town of Qwerty. They had a month to do this, meaning a month of all their free time.

When school was over, the students started researching how the people went missing, and it said that they went missing, mysteriously without a clue of what happened to them.

Everybody except Regina thought this would be a dead end, and they would fail this assignment from what information they had, but Regina was determined so she took her other group members with her, and went to all the locations, the people went missing. At one of the houses they found some sticky, and icky goo that Noah suggested was alien goo, maybe, and it looked like there was a fight there. The students were tired so they went back home, and slept.

The next day, it was like an ordinary school day. After school ended all the students went home. At around 4:00pm, Regina's group came to Regina's house to do their assignment since Regina's parents were out. While Regina and her group were discussing what they were to do, with the goo they found in that home, Sophia was getting a lot of food to eat as she is a foodie. Sophia suggested that they eat first so they would think better, and since everyone was hungry, they agreed. They ate their food, and came back to see that the goo that they found was gone.

They were all panicking, as that was their only clue to solving the mystery. They all blamed Olivia, since she was the last one with it, and she was supposed to put it back in the jar they were keeping it.

Olivia said, "what is the big deal, it does not matter we can solve it later."

Regina replied, shouting, "what do you mean, we, all you do is sit there, on the couch, watching your phone!"

Mia suggested that they should just stop arguing, and try to find it. So that's what they did. They couldn't find it and Noah again suggested that it is an alien goo, and it moved itself somewhere. Everybody, desperate, believes that it might have been an alien goo. Regina said that they should continue this tomorrow, since it is getting late.

The next day they continued this and decided to investigate further more by going to the place where this is supposedly being looked at by the government named Ashelder who says that these missing people are being looked at, and that it is under control.

The kids take their binoculars and spy on the facility to see what is actually happening there, and uncover a dark truth. ALIENS ARE INVADING THE PLANET and the government is helping the aliens!

The kids were about to leave, but then they stumbled upon a warehouse looking building, where there was expensive, futuristic, tech such as plasma blasters, and even a spaceship. The kids left remembering the location of this area.

The next day the kids go back there telling their parents that they're having a sleepover, and Regina went since her parents weren't home yet. They gear up and Lucas hacks the computer there and puts all the information on a usb drive that can fit a terabyte. And before they continue their journey to saving the world, they unite as a team and call themselves the Aliexes.

They all use the tech to spy on the aliens and the government. While doing so they learnt that the alien species is called the BIOEANS (by-o-e-ans) which look like insects with a reptile scale along with spikes on their back, and they are using the humans that they trafficked to resurrect their king. The Aliexes confronted the aliens and started blasting them. The aliens flew out into space with their ship, but the Aliexes also had a spaceship, so they used it to go follow the aliens' spaceship, and they went to Mars where it was surprisingly cold but due to the suits the Aliexes were wearing, they were fine.

The chase was like a turtle chasing a rabbit and the Aliexes was the turtle. They finally caught up to the aliens, and they made sure that the aliens would stop, but they were too late since the aliens already had resurrected their king, and in the distance there was a huge explosion where the alien king was.

The alien king looked like the BIOEANS (by-o-e-ans) but 60x bigger and with more spikes on his back. This time, the alien king could spit out fire explosive poison balls. With Lucas's hacking skills he has, he brought backup robots from the computer he previously hacked. They battled, and Noah knocked a lot out due to his good coordination skills he has from playing video games and Sophia is very athletic, and fast so she dodged much of the debris from the explosion, and for Liam he can pack a punch so he punched many of the aliens out of existence.

They all knew that they couldn't defeat the alien king by themselves so Mia used her skills in science and made a contraption using everything they have around them. First thing was CO<sub>2</sub> or Carbon dioxide which are in the robot's tank so Lucas made one of the robots give their tank, next thing they needed was aluminum which luckily was all around them since when the alien king destroyed the ship it spreaded the aluminum all around them and they also need some thick absorbent cotton which was conveniently in their suit so with that, and an airtight thing such as their helmet, there was one nearby so they made, Sophia run to it and she got it so they were done the thing to prevent the alien king from destroying it but they needed one more thing to kill it which was Uphiopkil (eup-i-op-kil) which is kinda like poison but it is not poison as it can explode, and burn, and suffocate you. It can be found in the rocks on Mars. They fixed it up and made one of the robots throw it into the alien king's mouth. The alien king died along with all the other aliens or BIOEANS (by-o-e-ans).

Back on planet earth it has been two days and the students in the group were not at school for two days but on the presentation day they showed with the usb and got an A+ and they also showed it to the police and the corrupted government is gone now.

The End!
