

Planetarium Show

Some people or organizations have purchased electronic sky projection systems and air supported domes which can hold about 25 students.

The presenter can give many different tours of the sky. A local astronomy club would probably know someone nearby to contact or google “portable planetarium [your city]”.

The cost could be reduced if the science department also showed that program to all students taking science that semester plus an enhanced after school session for the club members.

Some cities also have planetariums.
