A Note On Cyber-Security

Some people have reported that the Firefox browser might flag our registration partner's site as being a potential security risk. We have contacted our registration partner to pass on these reports. They've looked into it and replied back to us. They have recently completed the regular renewal of their security certificate. Information that has been stored in your browser's cache might conflict with the renewed data.

Our advice is:

- Use only the link we've provided to our registration partner: click on the big blue button just below.
- If you get a warning, clear your browser's cache and try again. For Firefox, here's how to clear the browser cache.
- If you're still not certain, please make a note of what's happened; a screen shot would be very helpful. Contact us immediately, and we will look into it.

Being careful about cyber-security is sensible. We take it seriously, as does our registration partner.

Please contact us if you have any concerns, at either ga2017@ottawa-rasc.ca or president@ottawa-rasc.ca.

Help on Using the Registration System

We've tried to make the registration form easy to use, but everyone has a different tolerance for websites. We've recorded a short video showing how to register an attendee and a guest.
